Governor West's Position Sustained by the Courts.

All Expenses That Have Been Incurred Sava Utah's Governor.

The war is over and the industrial army is by this time out of Utah rolling eastward on a Union Pacific "dummy freight" consisting of some thirty coal and box cars which was sent out of Ogden and which the army 'captured' at Uintah at 11:50 o'clock and the people of the territory at his back has bad has not been with the hack has had has not been with the industrial army, but with the Southern Pacific, and the issue was as to whether that company or the territory of Utah was the so vereign. Our courts, through the proceedings that were instituted, have determined that contest in favor of the people and have decided that within our boundaries the commonwealth is the sovereign.

The ruling of the courts on the contemps proceedings completely vindicated the course taken by the governor campaign with drooping tails.

On the ruling of court being made known in camp, that its orders to the Southern Pacific ratiway company to keep the army within its cars and supply them food or take them back must be enforced, the effect was electrical. It was known all along ov all that Gov-ernor West never contemplated the use of any physical force against the industrial army in any way except that it might be necessary in the presservation of the security and lives of our people, and hence the defisat po-sition of the corporation and the delays. It was also known that the army in a body would be allowed to move eastward at any time. Immediately on receipt of the news that the court's order must be obeyed and that Marshai Brigham had been given due authority to enforce it, by physical force it necessary, word came from the army that they were ready to in we out and would conset to troops accom.

The Matrimonial Market Would Be Boomed and Commerce Benefited. We commend the suggestion recently offered by a Baltimore woman to the efelots. There is something in this proposition that commends itself to the judicial mind. It does not, for instance, attack a social class. It makes no dis crimination between the rich and the poor. The idea is to tax every bachelor THE RAILROAD WILL PAY poor. The idea is to tax every bachelor who cannot show that he is unable to marry because of having to support de pendent relatives to the extent of $10 per annum. The estimate is that there are 6,000,000 of marriageable bachelors in at Ogden-At Least the Aid of the United States, and that at least Courts Will be Sought For This End-So 4,000,000 of these have no valid excuse for their selfish and useless condition,

A tax of $10 per capita, therefore would yield $40,000,000. It could be coldo no great harm, and it would have the merit of providing its own remedy for those who felt unwilling to pay. If it accomplished nothing else, it would communicate a powerful boom to the matrimonial market and so for every $10 that ected without much expense. It would captured' at Uintah at 11:30 o'clock ast night.

WOOD PULP SILK.

Chardomet's Discovery Perfected and a Mill Started In France.

An experiment is being made at Besancon, in France, with a substitute for silk, which will be watched with interest. The invention, that of Count de Chardomet, is to convert wood pulp into soft silken thread, durable, luminous and elastic. The "silk" threads produced from the wood pulp were first shown at the last Paris exhibition, when they enjoyed a good deal of attention among those interested in the silk industry. But the process was at that time far from complete, and many improvements had to be made before the invention could be regarded as a commercial success.

must be improved before capitalists are likely to embark in the venture. One of the great difficulties, it appears, that has to be overcome is the suapping of the threads while they are being spun, owing to the unequal pressure which is exercised in forcing the wood pulp through an exceedingly small aperture, so as to convert it into thread. This is a defect, however, which the inventor is confident he will soon overcome. After the wood of paregoric, and so throng the parks and sidewalks with nursemaids that the whole nation would feel the impulse and all mankind be made the happier and better through its influence. Either the treasurer would get a revenue or society be purified and population stimulated.

The real cause of the commercial descriptions will not owe the territory one cent. The next case that came on was that of Hansen vs Joseph Adamson, suit for the recovery of a pulp it is dried in an oven and then plunged into a mixture of sulphuric and nitric acids, washed in several baths of value at $125 00. Damage for their detention was set at $20 00.

MISS HATCH'S CURF.

She Thinks It Was Due to Supernatural Influence, but the Doctor Says Not. Miss Mary Hatch, a young woman of excellent family, who lives with her mother at 1912 Hickory street, is rejoicing in her recent relief from a tumor which had made her miserable for seven years. She attributes her cure to the rirtues of a relic of Mme. Barat, a Sacred Heart. Miss Hatch had taken medical treatment without benefit and had finally come to despair of cure by other than surgical means.

Some one advised her to apply to the Sisters of the Sacred Heart for a relic that might, with faith and prayer, help to sustain her through such an operation. She did so and was told that her cure by supernatural means was not impossible. She received from the mother superior a relic of Mme. Barat and s form of prayer and was directed to sew the relic into her dress and repeat the prayer at frequent intervals for a term of nine days. On the sixth day of the novena Miss Hatch was relieved of the tumor without other than natural assistance and since then has been rapidly recovering strength. She was seen by a representative of The Post-Dispatch and talked enthusiastically of her cure, ascribing it entirely to the virtues of faith and prayer and the relic. Her mother and the Sisters of the Sacred Heart hold the same opinion as to the cause of the cure.

Dr. Robert J. O'Reilly, who gave Miss Hatch some attention at different times, said; "I believe I saw Miss Hatch four times and prescribed for her. But I had not seen her since June up to the time of her delivery of the tumor. I considered the tumor a simple fleshy growth that might pass off of itself if let alone, and I did not at any time consider the young woman's condition critical. I hesitated, however, to make a thorough examination for reasons that medical men will appreciate. You may put me down as saying that I do not think there was anything supernatural about this cure,"-St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Spring Medicine.

This is the time for spring medicine, and there is nothing better than green foods. Celery salad, celery soup, celery sandwiches and celery and salt for nerves, rheumatism and relish; lettuce, chicory, escarol, oranges and grape fruit for the blood; water cresses for the voice, breath and lungs; radishes, onions, shallot and chives for the stomach, and accept any substitute if offered.

Jewelers are fervently wishing that the styles prevalent in France in the tenth century might be revived for the sake of business. Judith, the wife of Caipuchin, wore a solid girdle of gold that weighed four pounds, and all the fashionable dames followed her example.
